UNIVERSITY OF DELAWARE®

SHAPING IDEAS INTO PROGRESS

At the University of Delaware our students and faculty don't just spend their time in the classroom, they get into the lab, the library and the community to make their ideas a reality—engineering bridges, advancing cancer research, uncovering history . . . making history. As a student at UD, we challenge you to work toward the advancement of knowledge, making innovations that will ensure a better future.

UD will give you the support to unleash your creativity and make your mark on the world. The next big idea could be yours.

READY TO APPLY?

Visit www.udel.edu/admissions.

We accept a variety of applications and have different deadlines to accommodate your needs. If at any point in the application process you have questions, we're here to help. A counselor from the Office of Undergraduate Admissions is only a visit, phone call or email away. Find the counselor for your region on the admissions website.

TWO WAYS TO APPLY:

• Early action:

Deadline to apply: Nov. 1

Decision notification by Jan. 31

• Regular admission:

Priority deadline: Jan. 15

Decision notification by mid-March

WHAT YOU NEED TO APPLY:

- Completed application
- Required essays
- Self-reported high school grades through SRAR (Self-Reported Academic Record)*
- For fall 2021, standardized test scores are optional. Those who wish to supply scores, can self-report their SAT (code: 5811) or ACT (code: 0634) scores. Students who choose not to submit test scores must complete supplemental essays. For more info, visit www.udel.edu/requirements.
- High school counselor school report; letter of recommendation optional

Students who are admitted and plan to attend UD will be required to submit official, final high school transcripts before their initial semester.*

All applications received by Jan. 15 will be considered for merit scholarships.

Your academic record will speak for itself. There are no extra essays to write or hoops to jump through. If you apply by our priority deadline for fall admission, Jan. 15, your application will be automatically evaluated for merit scholarships at UD.

To be considered for need-based aid, fill out the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) at www.fafsa.ed.gov.

GAIN MORE THAN A MAJOR

UD Honors College

Our students are driven. But those who demand a challenge beyond our already rigorous academics apply to the UD Honors College. With opportunities for deep inquiry and research, along with small class sizes, the UD Honors College gives you the freedom to investigate whatever sparks your intellectual curiosity. No matter which major you choose, honors provides unique opportunities and a strong community.

Interested in the UD Honors College? Visit www.udel.edu/honorsadmissions for more information, including how to be considered for admission to the program.

World Scholars Program

Travel the world starting your first year.

Students admitted to this prestigious four-year program are driven by a desire to engage with other cultures, learn new languages, prepare for global careers or just see the world. In their first year, World Scholars study in Italy, Spain, Greece or New Zealand, then continue their global engagement on campus and with another semester abroad junior year.

Ideal candidates desire to live like a local anywhere in the world. Does this sound like you?

Explore more, including how to apply, at www.udel.edu/worldscholars.

Scholars and Fellows Programs

At UD, we know your interests go beyond your major. That's OK. Here, you're encouraged to branch out and explore your passions.

Our Scholars and Fellows programs allow you to engage in fields beyond your own, complementing your major without the commitment of a minor. Have a passion for tackling societal issues? Join Community Engagement Scholars or Access:Ability Scholars. Taking classes in the humanities but want to gain experience in entrepreneurship? Join Delaware Innovation Fellows.

Explore all five of our Scholars and Fellows programs, including how to apply, at www.udel.edu/enrichment.

WHAT'S YOUR PASSION?

AFIA ASAMOAH, CLASS OF 2021

MAJOR: fashion merchandising
HOMETOWN: Middletown, DE

When AFIA ASAMOAH is not working with her dance group, writing music reviews or creating new fashion designs, Afia is doing research. Last year she was picked as one of our prestigious Summer Scholars to complete funded research on the levels of air and water pollution created by major fashion companies. This year she continued to gain experience in her field, interning at Kohl's department store.

Joining the World Scholars program, WILL JELLEY traveled to Madrid, Spain his first semester at UD. There, he began to see how public policy affects people across the globe. He took this new perspective with him to Washington, D.C. where he interned on Capitol Hill. His comfort with travel then landed him a job on a presidential campaign, crisscrossing the country and deepening his insight into his field.

WILL JELLEY, CLASS OF 2020

MAJOR: political science
HOMETOWN: Pittsburgh, PA

When SARAY LOPEZ first began at UD, she didn't know what to expect. But as soon as she connected with a first-generation student group on campus, she felt at home. From there, her college career really took off. She found faculty mentors who she assisted with substance abuse research, while also taking leadership positions in a club for Latinx students, HOLA, and a professional organization for human resources.

SARAY LOPEZ, CLASS OF 2021

MAJOR: human relations administration
HOMETOWN: Middletown, DE

When CAITLIN RULLI began looking at schools, she didn't know much about UD and wasn't sure what to choose for her major. But when she visited, she found what she was looking for: opportunities to try things out. With over 400 clubs, research and study abroad opportunities, she could explore any interest. She soon found her passion and was a research assistant working on projects related to eating disorders and quality food production.
